Dinner Jacket, Takes Off on Atlantic Flight

Capt. James A. Mollison Heads for Harbor Grace, Enroute to England; Flies in a Single-seat Cockpit Plane.

NIGHT FLIER

Can Fly Best at Night, He Says, Hence the Dinner Jacket for the Trip.

New York, Oct. 28 (AP).—Attired
in a dinner jacket, Capt. James A.
Mollison, the transatlantic flier, took off at 8:44 a. m. today in a one-stop flight to London by way of Harbor Grace, N. F., hoping to establish a mark of 17½ flying hours from Floyd Bennett Field to Croydon airdrome.

"I do my best flying at night," explained the Englishman. "So don't you know, I have to be properly dressed."

He did don a flying suit over his dinner jacket as a concession to low temperatures, and the conventional vest of the man-about-town attired for formal eating had been replaced with a white sweater. He had slipped slacks over his trousers.

Mollison, intending to fly at 15-000 feet altitude, figured he could reach Harbor Grace with his initial load of 420 gallons of gasoline in 5½ hours. His plane, a speedy Belanca monoplane powered with a 700
H. P. motor, has a cruising speed of about 250 miles an hour.

It is a single cockpit ship with a sliding hood to convert it into a closed type, and is painted blue and orange. Mollison will navigate, he said, only with a gyroscopic compass
and an artificial horizon.

Wife Sends Luck
The plane bears the wing marking "NR-130M."

Just before the takeoff Mollison received a cablegram from his wife, Amy, wishing him luck on his voyage. She announced in London last week she and Mollison had separated.

The flier took along no food but expected to take some aboard at Harbor Grace for the water hop.
He said he hoped to pick up the coast of Ireland nine hours out of Harbor Grace and to make London
in three more hours.

Arrived there, he planned to leave within three days for Capetown, South Africa.

Bad weather, he said, may hold him at Harbor Grace for a time. His weather reports from there indicated the hop for London might not be advisable tonight or tomorrow.

He expected to increase his load of gasoline to 600 gallons at Harbor Grace. His ship, the "Dorothy," was named, he said, for a "very dear friend," Dorothy Ward, English actress.

Has Sailed Ocean Before
Mollison, now 31 years old, has flown solo westward over both northern and southern Atlantic routes.

He was the first man to fly alone
from East to West over the North Atlantic, completing a hop in August, 1932, from Port-Marnock, Irish Free State, to Pennfield Ridge, New Brunswick, in about 30 hours.

With his wife, Amy Johnson, Mollison made a second westward flight over the North Atlantic. They cracked up in landing near the Bridgeport, Conn., airport July 23, 1933.

Besides his successful Atlantic hops, Mollison established other air speed records from England to Australia and from England to Capetown, South Africa.

Educated at Glasgow and Edinburgh academies, Mollison was commissioned in the Royal Air Force in 1923. Subsequently he became a commercial pilot on flights to Australia.

Recently he has been interested in stratosphere flying and predicted some time ago that seven-hour air service between Europe and the United States would become a reality through such a medium.

WALLIS' FIRST HUSBAND DIVORCED BY 2ND WIFE

San Diego, Calif., Oct. 28 (AP).—
The divorce suit of Mrs. Wallis Simpson, American friend of England's king, from her second husband, brought another divorce into prominence here today.

Her first husband, Commander E.
Spencer, it was learned, was dissolved here by Mrs. Miriam J. Spa-ncer, his second wife, on June 20.

The information, obtained from court records, might have remained undisclosed had not the intense international interest in all Mrs. Simpson's marital experiences been sharpened by her friendship with Great Britain's bachelor King Edward VIII.

Commander Spencer married Mrs. Wallis Simpson in 1925. They were married at Beverly Hills, Calif., on and June 14, 1925. They separated in June 14, 1934. The suit was filed the next day.

The divorce suit was filed after their marriage. Spencer was a pilot and she could "get out of the sky."

Frank Spodick New General Man-

Ulster Provisioners—Cooperative Association, better known to the people of Kingston and surrounding territory as the U.P.A. stores and markets, are now under the management of Frank Spodick who recently took over the office of general manager.

Mr. Spodick comes to Kingston from Hartford, Conn., and has been engaged in association work for grocers and marketmen's associations for the past 10 years. Tuesday Mr.
Spodick was busy at the U.P.A. office and storehouse at 26 Downs street familiarizing himself with the Kingston cooperative setup and meeting members of the organization who visited the offices.

Prior to coming to Kingston Mr.
Spodick for three years was general manager for the Home Circle Stores of Hartford, a group of more than 100 cooperative retailers and marketmen who do a very large business in the insurance city. This organization was formed in 1931 as a cooperative association known as the H.C.S. Merchandising Company and today, from its small beginning has come to do a business of more than

J. Edward Conway of this city, Republican nominee for Member of Assembly, comes before the people of Ulster county this fall seeking re-election on his record. Elected to the state legislature in 1932, Mr.
Conway assumed office on January 1, 1933, and since that time has shown by his record of achievements in Albany that he is a competent, capable and understanding legislator; that he is fully acquainted with the problems of the people of the county which he represents and that he can and will work for those who have sent him to Albany as their representative.

Not only is Mr. Conway acquainted with the problems of his own county but in matters which affect the good of the entire state he has shown exceptional judgment. As is done with all newcomers to the state legislature, the first year Mr. Conway appeared in office he was first tested out by the older members of that body but his sound judgment and complete understanding of public problems soon led the older members to entrust to him more important problems and it was not long before his ability was made known and he was appointed to some of the most important committees. The high esteem in which J. Edward Conway is held by his fellow legislators has made him a most valuable representative of the people of Ulster county for it is experience and ability which gives weight to any member of the state's law making body.

Conway Accommodating.
Not only is Mr. Conway alive to the needs of Ulster county as a member of the state legislature but he is one of the most accommodating representatives which Ulster county has ever sent to Albany where it came to doing favors outside his official duties. Even though it may be some task entirely outside his duties as assemblyman and it may require considerable time and effort to do the favor, Mr. Conway never refuses to perform any service in the capital gratuitously and with the customary Conway smile. During the past Mr. Conway has helped many a friend out of a difficult situation even though the act might require contact with other state departments.

Mr. Conway by his genial disposition and ability has made many friends in "official" Albany and in practically every public office he is known and liked. This well deserved popularity make it possible for Mr.
Conway to be of great assistance to his constituents outside his official duties in the legislature.

In many matters of importance
Mr. Conway has battled for his home county. In the matter of flood control, a matter of deep importance to a major portion of Ulster county, he has always been on the alert. An attempt was made to have New York city take steps toward flood control

Madrid Into Confusion; Rebels Gain Relentlessly

Thousands of Homeless Near Star-

Insurgent Command Draws Plans for Occupying City; Chief Reliance on 200 Tanks.

By The Associated Press.

Madrid, Oct. 28.—Thousands of homeless wanderers, stranded by civil war, roamed Madrid today, adding to the frenzied confusion of the capital as the government openly admitted its peril.

The cabinet, in emergency session to solidify defense operations, ordered compulsory billeting for the war refugees who, they feared, were a menace to order in the tense capital.

Great numbers of them have straggled through the insurgent lines from occupied provincial towns.

Many already show signs of their suffering from cold and hunger.
Bedraggled and tattered, they have neither money, friends nor resources to produce housing, warm clothes or food.

With the food problem growing acute from the city's normal population of more than a million, the government was alarmed that looting and food riots might add to the tremendous problem it faces in conserving and mobilizing its resources.

Wholesale Conspirators.

The cabinet also decreed all Spaniards between the ages of 20 and 45 must join the armed forces protecting the capital and consolidated the government military organization under the strict control of the war department.

A war ministry bulletin admitted government reserves on all fronts of the encroaching Fascist circle except at Talavera De La Reina where, it said, Madrid warplanes bombed the insurgent airport.

The communists said the Fascists launched another vicious attack on a vulnerable government outpost at Peguerinos, near El Escorial on the west, and bombed Santa Maria De Alameda and Navacerrada in the same sector.

Despite a strong Fascist hold on the highway around Valdemoro, south of Madrid, the bulletin said the government still maintained communications with Aranjuez, its base in that area.

3 Planes Lost

Official reports said "several Facsist planes" bombed Cartagena, government-held Mediterranean port, but lost three planes in the attack.

Dynamite-burling Asturian miners were reported reinforcing their strength at Oviedo for an attack to recapture the Bay of Biscay city from the insurgents.

A cabinet crisis loomed as a further complication of the government's predicament. It appeared imminent the administration would have to be reorganized to admit representation of the powerful Syndicalist party.

Carlos Rubiera, president of the newly-formed provisioning commission in the Madrid area, said today the capital had sufficient food supplies to resist an absolute siege for at least two months.

Final Battle Plans.

Navalcarnero, Oct. 28 (AP).—The insurgent command drew battle plans today for a triumphal charge on Madrid.

With their outposts 10 miles from the capital, almost within range for their heaviest artillery—the Fascist leaders laid out a careful strategy for occupying the city.

They relied principally on a fleet of 200 swift, flat tanks and armored cars to charge into Madrid's streets ahead of foot troops, if necessary, to "mop up" after their projected storming of the capital with big guns.

Taking into account all possibilities of a hostile population or a last-ditch stand by the government's raw recruits, they said the mobile, machine-gunning tank fleet could dominate any street fighting or snip-ing after the artillery and air attacks.

Batteries of six-inch guns will be drawn up in the Fascist circle of steel around the capital to break its
"last line of defense."

There were indications the Fascists would seek to avoid destruction as much as possible, counting on alarming the population into a mass panic and forcing the defenders to withdraw without resistance.

Armiesmen Fanned.

Even if the government defenses
crumbled, the Fascists feared anarchists might set the city aflame before insurgent troops could enter.

Fascist forces held an unbroken line surrounding the capital on three sides, five miles north and toward the southwest, and had cut Madrid's last railroad communications eastward to the Mediterranean coast.

General Francisco Franco's established forces from Morocco to day had shown the insurgents
Madrid within a point where 16 miles of Madrid.

"Monsieur de Paris," France's aged, gray-bearded executioner, claimed his 260th victim at dawn
today.

Calmly, spurning the traditional rum and cigarette of the condemned, Andre Martin went to his death on the guillotine for the murder of a jeweler and his wife a year ago.

He was the 14th Martin executed by "Monsieur de Paris," the 68-year-old Anatole Diebler, hereditary executioner of the third republic and the only headman in the nation.

Diebler, who looks more like a retired business man than an executioner, inherited his office at the end of the last century from his father.

The Macabre function has been handed down in the family since the French revolution but may pass out of it as Diebler is eager to quit and cannot find a member of his family to take the job against which Frenchmen nurse a traditional grudge.

Budapest, Hungary, Oct. 28.—In a square formed by 200 white-faced soldiers, two sergeants convicted of transmitting military secrets to Czechoslovakia were hanged today.

The soldiers were ordered to witness the executions so they might armed forces.

Officers of the court martial also were present as bugles sounded and the hangman kicked stools out from under the condemned, John Beiro and Josef Kavacs.

The men were accused of using young girls whom they introduced to officers to obtain military secrets,
then they allegedly sent the secrets to Czechoslovakia through smuggling.

of Betrayal of Labor Through Political Alliances.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 28 (AP).— Governor Alf M. Landon paraded through flag-draped streets lined with thousands of spectators today and told a tumultuous throng that jammed Newark's largest theatre that he would, "when elected," enforce "federal laws for the protection of workers."

Bands greeted the Republican Presidential nominee at the railway station, preceded him in the parade and met him with campaign tunes at the Mosque theatre as he entered to the wild shouts of the crowd that overflowed the theatre's 6,000 seats.
The Governor's broadcast address followed the 20-minute parade through downtown Newark and a five minute ovation in the theatre.

"For many years I have believed in the necessity for organization as a means of advancing the fortunes of the individual worker, raising his standard of living and giving him the position in the world to which he is entitled," the Republican presidential nominee told a New Jersey audience.

He spoke in the Mosque theatre
during a four-hour pause of his campaign special bound for New York city and the wind-up of his eastern campaign for electoral votes.

Court Recognition.

The Kansas said the Supreme Court recognizes "the right of organized labor through peaceful methods to extend organization to labor that is unorganized," and "the right to peaceful picketing."

Generally, Landon said, "the law is on the side of those who as workers, eager to promote their own fortunes and those of their fellow workers in the same or other industries."

"It is an old story," he continued,
"that labor has the right to organize and bargain collectively through representatives of its own choosing without interference by employers."

"But like many an old story, it needs to be emphasized and applied.
When I am president I will see to it that federal laws for the protection of workers are enforced."

Declaring "national prosperity depends on labor's receiving an increasing share of the value of everything we produce," Landon named "the father of the American Federation of Labor, Samuel Gompers" as one of the first sponsors of that principal which "has become the conviction of every progressive citizen."

"The Labor Union, as public opinion recognizes, is an instrument of economic progress and national well-being," the candidate said, adding:

Familiar With Labor.

"I would like the workers of America, whether they are organized or unorganized, to understand clearly that their problems are familiar to me; that I myself have worked with my own hands; that I have sympathy with the point in view of the working men and women, and eager to cooperate with them."

Again referring to Gompers, Landon said "labor in this country has progressed by following the Gompers policy of keeping free from entanglement with any political group."

"That policy more than anything else is responsible for the steady advance it has made."

The candidate told his audience that "we are witnessing in this country today an effort to introduce into the camp of American labor the European system of political alliances which invariably victimize labor."

"No one can deliver the labor vote of America to any one political party," the Kansan said, "because there are no classes in America."

"Anyone who claims to be able to deliver, or strives to deliver, any part of the American people to a political master is betraying the people of America. Such a person is sowing the seeds of destruction for all of us. He threatens to destroy the one classless nation in the world divided by class hatred and overshadowed by the tragedy of dis-union."

A United People.

"Let us stand in the future, as in the past, a united people, a united nation."

Turning to the question of social security, the Republican leader said:

"I have been frankly exposing the inadequacies, the inequalities, the darkness and the disappointments inherent in the compulsory insurance programs of the New Deal, X X X X
The burdens X X X fall almost entirely on the workers, X X X this is not social security, it will create social insecurity, X X X.

"Our plan of federal grants-in-aid for the states will be on a pay as you go basis, X X X I promise, only what I know can be performed.
The money, a living pension, and such security as can be provided by a generous people," Landon concluded.

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, Oct. 28.—Mrs. Margot Hanke and brother, Carl Wuermer, have returned to New York for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Arnold have left Woodstock to live for some time in Washington, D. C. Mr. Arnold has accepted a position there.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Moody intend to leave soon for a winter in New York. Mr. and Mrs. Camman of the Maverick have returned to New York.

Agnes Schleicher returned recently from a short trip to New York.

Mrs. Irving Brown, with her son and daughter, William and Betty, spent the week-end in Woodstock, returning to their home in New York on Sunday. During their stay here Betty Brown was the guest of her friend, Mary Clough.

The current issue of the "American Magazine of Art" reproduces the painting, "Petunia and Phlox", by Henry Lee McFee, Woodstock artist. It is a recent purchase of the Toledo Museum of Art.

A booklet is now being published by the Woodstock Historical Society of the reminiscences of the late Dutton Brown.

The Methodist and Dutch Reformed Churches are uniting this Sunday in a union service in observance of Temperance Sunday. The service will be held in the Methodist Church at 10:45 a. m.

On Sunday evening at 7:45 o'clock Dr. J. W. Chace, district superintendent of the Kingston district will address members of the Shady M. E. Church on the temperance question.

An important meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society was held on Sunday in the parsonage of the Dutch Reformed Church. Officers for the coming season were elected as follows: Flora Davis, president; Carson Hutchins, first vice president; Doris Dock, second vice president; Eileen Lasher, secretary, and William Elwyn, Jr., treasurer. Plans were made for the annual supper to take place some time in November. An interesting part of the program for the evening was a talk by Carl Eric Lindin, who discussed the proposed community building which is so much in the public mind now. He explained the purpose for which the building is designed, and illustrated his talk with the plans for its construction. He spoke to enthusiastic listeners who see in the enterprise the means of obtaining long needed rooms for basketball, dancing and other activities so difficult for Woodstock's young people to arrange.

MRS. HAUPTMANN AGAIN IN COURT

Accompanied by a bodyguard, Mrs. Anna Hauptmann, widow of the late Bruno Hauptmann, convicted slayer of the Lindbergh baby, leaves Bronx Municipal Court in New York, where a suit brought against her by an attorney was dismissed. He charged she owed him part of a legal fee for settling a tax case. (Associated Press Photo)

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

Prosperity Note

Columbus, O.—Business is picking up in Ohio Penitentiary.

In the weekly issue of the penitentiary news this appeared:

"Wanted: Two first-class machinists; two experienced lathe men, one experienced screw machine operator. Notify machine shop."

Only prison inmates are eligible.

Hear! Hear!

Pittsburgh—A shout of "Judge, I can't hear a thing you say" interrupted proceedings in Judge M. A. Musmanno's court.

"Who are you?" asked the judge "I'm a spectator."

"You've been drinking. You're in contempt. Go to jail to cool off and sober up," said the judge.

Cautious, Three Judges

Fort Worth, Tex.—As a liquor trial jury filed out one juror carried a government exhibit, half a gallon of whiskey, under his arm.

"If they call for some ginger ale and ice we'll know what's going on," somebody remarked, and Federal Judge T. W. Davidson spoke up:

"I believe, gentlemen, that the whiskey will remain in the courtroom unless you jurymen find it necessary to reach a verdict."

The verdict was "guilty."

Parsons Paid

Parsons, Kas.—While Dr. Harry L. Lee, Kansas City minister, addressed an assembly of Southeast At.

Kansas pastors his overcoat, hat and gloves were stolen from the church cloakroom.

Parsons preachers pooled funds, induced a merchant to open the store and bought Dr. Lee a new overcoat.

they know their ALE!

NO idle talk, this. There are plenty of ales—but only one Ballantine's. So if the bartenders and waiters wear the 3-Ring Emblem meaning "Ballantine's," you can be sure of their special knowledge of brews. It's a good place that offers you Ballantine's Ale—and good men who serve it!

The 3-ring trademark—"one ring for PUR-R-RITY... a second for BODY... a third for FLAVOR-R-R"—has been the traditional mark of excellence in ale since Peter Ballantine originated it back in 1840. When your taste calls for a sound, ripened brew—mellow and tangy with the brewed-in flavor of proper ingredients, properly aged—look for the 3 rings of quality—

THEN ASK FOR BALLANTINE'S!

BLEAKLEY IN KINGSTON

Justice Bleakley didn't mince words in his address here Tuesday when he declared that radicalism has spread very rapidly under the Lehman administration. He further asserted that the Washington and Albany new deals have forfeited support and confidence of the people by giving aid and comfort to radicalism and acquiescing to the hitchhiking gestures of socialists and communists.

The Republican gubernatorial candidate was equally frank in assailing what he termed "complete domination" of state affairs by the national administration, declaring it is not in keeping with the democracy in which the citizens of our country take such pride.

Continuing his attack Justice Bleakley pointed out that when the new deal administration takes the position that it can ride roughshod over the wishes of congress and when the governor of the state of New York openly boasts that he has and will continue to usurp the law, taking powers and prerogatives of the state legislature, our democracy ceases to exist and our citizens automatically fall into the category of subject people.

After charging the new deal with defying the Supreme Court of the United States and flouting the constitution, Justice Bleakley summed up this question: In view of the new deal record, who could care to further trust the future of the Constitution of the United States and the future continued welfare of the people to an administration which has shown so clearly that it does not believe in the American Constitution and the American conception of free enterprise, individual liberty, free press and free speech?

MEN WITHOUT A PARTY

Why are many Democrats so severe in their denunciation of former Governor Alfred E. Smith? Surely it isn't because the former governor, who for years worked for and believed in the Democratic Party, now chagrined as his time-honored label of "Democrat" is appropriated by a man having little in common with the principles formerly held as Democratic, dares to come out and express his honest opinion.

Al Smith did not walk away from his party, but rather the party walked from Al as well as the rest of the Democrats. Have not these appropriations taken on a new name of "New Dealers"? Have not they declared that a new order of things has been established?

Is Al Smith the only Democrat

who is voicing his protest against the continuation of the New Deal? What about former Governor Ely of Massachusetts, former Governor Murray of Oklahoma, Professor Dyer of Vanderbilt University, former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, John W. Davis, Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state, and Col. Henry Breckenridge, assistant secretary of war, in the Wilson administration. These are all men of high character, undoubted patriotism, with distinguished records of public service as well as thousands of others less known to the newspaper public but equally honest and sincere in their love of country.

Franklin D. Roosevelt said in 1928 that "Al Smith has the uncanny faculty of irresistibly finding the truth". In 1928 Mr. Roosevelt in the Democratic state convention said "Some day in the distant future men and women will raise statues to a great American by the name of Smith. And when they do I hope that instead of a list of his titles to fame they carry the simple words, 'He taught us to think and to think straight'."

Al Smith not only thinks straight but has the courage to say what he thinks.

"There is none so blind as he who will not see," fits a great many Democrats who formerly became highly indignant when anything was said about the great Al.

NEW PHILOSOPHY

The American form of government is based on a written Constitution providing for a division of powers between the states and the national government. To single out but one instance, what did the Supreme Court say of the effort of the Roosevelt administration to set up national controls over industry through the NRA? The Supreme Court said, with no dissenting voice among its nine members, that if the Constitution were construed as the administration in the NRA case wished it to be construed "the federal authority would embrace practically all the activities of the people and the authority of the state over its domestic concerns would exist only by sufferance of the federal government." The Supreme Court did not pass on the advantages or disadvantages of such a centralized system, but said "It is sufficient to say that the Federal Constitution does not provide for it."

President Roosevelt has been shown continues to preach the NRA philosophy.

The President very properly took to himself a share of the credit for the progressive laws passed during his public career as legislator and governor in New York state. He spoke of the new factory legislation, of the limitation of the working hours of women in industry and the workmen's compensation law, etc.

That forward looking state program was made possible by the dignity and power and self-reliance that once distinguished the states from the Union.

Can President Roosevelt deny that these qualities in the states are not broken down by his new philosophy of an all-powerful and imperialistic government at Washington?

DOG AND HIT-SKIPPER.

A hit-skip motorist who ran over a stray dog the other day in New York city and then fled has been deprived of his driving license for six months and fined $50. To many persons, including dog lovers, this may sound like a heavy penalty, particularly if, as this man claims, the driver needs his car to keep his job.

The judge pointed out that revoking the license was mandatory under the new section of the law, and added that this case should be a lesson to others, warning them not to hit dumb animals and leave them in the street without help. It was the failure to stop rather than the accident itself which was charged against the driver and for which he was penalized. And the law may be wise. A driver who would fail to stop for an injured dog might also fail to stop when he hit a person.

A driver careless of the safety of dumb animals would probably be careless in regard to human beings. The hit-skipper is a major traffic menace about which something must be done.

The Wrong Murderer

By MUGG CLEVELY

SYNOPSIS: Terence Mahony has arranged for the police to find out a good deal about Ambrose Lawson, a gangster of kidnappers and dope runners. He also has captured Lawson, but Terence is not free of suspicion of having killed Vincent Little, whom Lawson really killed. And he fears for the life of Ruth Fraser his friend, so he bargains to release Lawson in return for Lawson's surrendering Ruth. Ruth has arrived; Terence is speaking to her for Lawson's benefit.

Chapter 33
 FATTY KICKS

WHAT the devil do we care if the police are after us, so long as we're together again," Mahony said. "They haven't caught us yet, and I'm going to take good care they don't catch us."

He turned towards the little office and made a motion to Fatty Bassett. "All right, let that man go," he said.

Reluctantly Fatty cut through the cords that bound Lawson; from his expression as he did so it was easy to judge that he would rather have cut Lawson's throat. Lawson stretched his cramped limbs and rose somewhat unsteadily.

"Thank you," he said. "That's much better."

He turned to Mahony and Ruth, who had just entered the little office.

"You two seem rather pleased with each other," he observed. "Well, make the most of it while you have the chance, because I don't think your pleasure will last very long. If the police don't get you both, I shall."

With that he turned away with the intention of walking out. But he had only taken a step when a heavy hand fell on his shoulder; he felt himself twisted round to stare into the red, enraged features of Fatty Bassett.

"Art a mo', mister Big Boss," he said thickly. "You fancy yer chance like 'ell, don't yer? You reckon you're the great big noise 'oo gives the orders wot other people obey. Maybe there was something in that a fortnight ago. But that's all finished now. Your number's up, see? An' now 'op it, an' take that for a keepsake."

With that he gave Lawson a shove forward towards the office door, and at the same time thrust out his large right foot in a heavy kick. Lawson shot through the office door as if propelled from a large catapult, pitched forward on his hands and knees, and rolled over twice on the oily garage floor. Then, his face contorted with rage and pain, he rose slowly to his feet.

"I'll—I'll have you killed for this!" he gasped.

"We've heard that sort of yarn before, an' it don't cut no ice with us at all," said Fatty Bassett jeeringly. "Op it now, before I kick you really 'ard."

Lawson withdrew, with what dignity he could muster. Ruth and Bassett and Mahony were left in the office.

Bassett sat down on the edge of the table, dangling his legs. He had recovered his temper and was looking cheerful now.

"I reckon we handed Lawson a good old job tonight," he remarked. "I don't mind tellin' you I've 'ad one or two anxious moments today. Some of my blokes was a bit windy about buckin' up against the Big Boss. Now they know 'e can be knocked about an' kidnapped, just like anybody else, they won't be scared of 'im no more."

"And his own people won't be so convinced that he can't be beaten, and they may start getting a bit windy in their turn," added Mahony.

HE turned to Ruth. "What happened to you, Ruth?" he asked.

Ruth's story was brief. She had gone to the house in the St. John's Wood Road, and had found the two men Mahony had left there tied up on the floor. Rashly, without bothering to ask questions, she had cut their bonds.

One of them had recognized her, and they had repaid her for the good turn she had done them by tying her up and leaving her while they fetched a car to take her away. She did not know where they had taken her. After being imprisoned for some hours, she had been thrust into a car and brought to the garage. That was all she knew.

"What's going to happen next?" she asked when she had finished her story. "What do you think I ought to do?"

"I hardly know," admitted Mahony. "You see, Inspector Kennedy only let me go tonight on condition that I reported to him at Scotland Yard at ten in the morning and told him if I had any news of you."

FACIAL NEURALGIA.

One of the earliest surgical operations it was my privilege (for severe duty) to watch was for the relief of that terrible pain in the side of the face and head called trigeminal neuralgia (the doloureux). The pain over the whole side of the face is so terrible that at that time surgery only was the cure in severe cases. Today, while surgery is still used in the very severe or major cases of the neuralgia, other methods are fortunately available which give relief to many cases.

Dr. Joseph C. Yaskin, University of Pennsylvania, in compiling records of cases helped by other than surgical methods says, "Dr. O. Dyes, Germany, treated 20 cases of true trigeminal neuralgia with the use of the deep X-ray. In only three cases was there no favorable result. In the other cases the attacks were stopped, the shortest for 3½ months, and in one case for as long as 11 years. In 12 the results may be termed lasting; in 5 incomplete. In 8 patients a single radiation or a series extending over several days was sufficient to lessen the attacks. In 9 cases, who had neuralgia longer, lasting improvement was obtained only by repeating the series of treatments after intervals of a few weeks or months. The method is worth while and should be tried before undergoing surgery."

In the Journal of Medicine Dr. J. A. Caldwell reports that what is known as the Moyer or Castor Oil treatment has benefited some cases of trigeminal neuralgia. The method is as follows: 1 or more ounces of castor oil is administered 3 times a day for several days in succession until the pain is relieved or the treatment is judged to have failed.

Dr. Caldwell states that he has had several remarkable cases where the pain stopped after this treatment. In one very severe case where all three branches of the nerve were giving pain (patient about to undergo operation) the castor oil treatment stopped the pain in 4 days and it did not return for 4 years. When the castor oil was tried again it failed to help and an alcohol injection into the nerve was necessary to stop the pain.

"Some patients are not helped," Dr. Caldwell does not continue a trial of the castor oil treatment beyond 1 week. He reports that other cathartics do not have the same effect as the castor oil.

The point then is that while surgery may be the "last resort" in trigeminal neuralgia, the deep X-ray, and the castor oil methods of treatment are very much worth trying.

THE STORM SWEEPS IN

TALKS TO PARENTS

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

If the right of children to self-expression and self-determination continues to be the rule, the time is soon coming when, for the sake of the world's emotional and nervous stability, the state will have to undertake the care and rearing of the young.

Only the hard and fast rules of mass production can control the child who is brought up by the modern psychology of freedom. When everyone is doing the same thing at the same time, there is no chance for individual assertion. Family life is not like that, nor, for that matter, is the world.

Tommy, who is six, cannot stay up as late as Mary who is in high school. But Tommy's mother is afraid to insist on his going to bed early, lest she thwart his ego, or his sub-conscious, or cause an inhibition or complex. Furthermore, she is tired of the constant argument.

And Tommy? He is apt to grow up a nervous oddity with a chip on his shoulder, not because of late hours, but because of the wear and tear of uncertainty and insecurity.

There was a time not so long ago when a parent's word had the force of law. The child who questioned or disobeyed an order was in disgrace. There were, of course, many abuses of authority, there were then as always many unmanageable and rebellious children. There resulted also innumerable adults whose lives were warped and twisted as a result of early training and mishandling. But there was at least a sense of security in the lives of a large number of children, and a certain respect for authority.

To argue out every question that arises is a strain on the nerves of both parents and children. To question all authority, not only destroys respect for authority, but actually harms the children, since it leaves them with no one and nothing on which to rely.

A Washington Daybook

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—Photographers comparing notes have found that recent pictures of Al Smith show him grim visaged, even frowning, not often the smiling "happy warrior."

The photographs were taken frequently at the beginning of his speeches when the camera men would be most likely to find him exchanging friendly greetings or losing the charm of his personality upon an untimely sentence.

These observations bear out what was already noticeable at the time of his appearance in Washington to address the U. S. Army Academy. At that banquet there were many who cracked and joked by preliminary speakers, some said, some bad. Through them all Smith's face remained calm and forbidding.

Republicans might have been tempted to remark that the New Deal was enough to sour anybody's face, but another reason suggests itself.

Through his political life—

Sundown Stories

The Odd Coat

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

AS a matter of fact, the Puddle Muddlers hardly thought it was work when they were doing something for Willy Nilly. It was really fun.

Rip, the dog, came running back. He carried the scissors, carefully closed, in his mouth.

"Now," said Honey Bear, "I'll use my two front paws, as I can stand very nicely on my hind legs, and I'll snip here and I'll snip there, and get lots of the wool."

"Ouch," bleated Sweet Face, "that hurt."

"Sorry," growled Honey Bear. "I cut too close there."

"You're not doing it quickly enough," said Jelly Bear, "we have little time to waste." So he took a hand, or rather a couple of paws, at the clipping.

While they had taken a great deal of wool from Sweet Face, and he looked very unevenly clipped. But they did not bother about his appearance, nor did Sweet Face. They all began trying to make the wool into a coat. They shaped it out on the ground and they tied it in places with string so that the arms would be attached to the shoulders.

"I don't think it looks very stylish," cackled Top Notch.

"Oh, Willy Nilly isn't vain the way you are," growled Honey Bear. "But I must go up to the cave. I've put aside a few nuts for Willy Nilly."

"I'll go for them," growled Jupiter Bear. Now the other Puddle Muddlers were going off to get the presents they had made or saved for the birthday.

"We'll all meet back at the meadow the first thing in the morning and march straight to Willy Nilly's," bleated Sweet Face.

Tomorrow—"Willy Nilly's Birthday"

Masquerade and Dance

There will be a masquerade and old fashioned dance Saturday night, October 31, at St. Ann's hall, Sawkill. The affair is sponsored by the Sawkill Social Club and will be for the benefit of St. Ann's Church and the club. There will be good music and refreshments.

Sees Himself Watchdog

Now, as his speeches indicate, he must become the watchdog. In his eye the Roosevelt administration has become the menace against which he must growl. It puts him in a different frame of mind.

Democrats have tried to show that he has changed his ideas, that the Democrats reforms he once sought he now finds monstrous.

Whatever the cause, the Smith smile of late is seen less often by the camera's eye.

African Campaign Out

REP. GEORGE HOLDEN TINKHAM of Massachusetts has an appointment this year in his race for reelection. In 1936 he contracted to two years ago when he conducted his campaign from South Africa.

His still from Gray's whiskers around in the manner of a Spanish conquistador. Tinkham has been the subject of unnumbered good natured stories about his appearance and demeanor since first he came here in 1912 as representative from the tenth Massachusetts district which includes a cutout of Boston.

He hunts big game in Africa between sessions of congress, and proudly lines his apartment walls here with the heads.

In years past he sometimes has had with the Democratic and Republican administration, his district. The Democratic congressional campaign committee became aware of his 1936 opponent when William F. Madden wrote for Tinkham's congressional history.

Highland News

Mrs. H. McCormick Speaks at Annual Party for Faculty

Highland, Oct. 28.—Mrs. Harry E. McCormick, of Cornwall, district director of the Central Hudson District Parent-Teacher Association, was the speaker at the annual reception for the faculty of the Highland schools Monday evening in the hall of the Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. McCormick was introduced by the principal, A. Herbert Campbell, and in her talk began with the organization in Washington in 1897, by Mrs. Theodore Birney and a Mrs. Hearst. It was then known as a Mothers' Congress, and coming to the attention of Mrs. Grover Cleveland, the wife of the President, the organization was tendered a reception at the White House. She defined the organization as non-sectarian, non-partisan, non-commercial and with the exception of two paid stenographers in Albany, there are no paid officers. It was to pass along what we do know and the speaker advised the work of P.-T. A. to be built around local needs and children's needs. The increase in crime demanded wholesome recreation, a "play and study together" program and to know the teachers. Since parents are taxpayers the school belongs to them and the advice was to visit the school, to know the board of education and attend the meetings, to become acquainted and conversant with what is being done for children.

Mrs. McCormick was followed by Mrs. Lardin, also of Cornwall, who is on the program committee and this speaker complimented the local program as arranged for this year's work, built around the subject, "Recreational Activities in the School, Home and Community."

The regular business meeting of the P.-T. A. was held in charge of the president, Mrs. D. S. Haynes. There was a small balance on hand in the treasury. Mrs. James Swift read a letter from Mrs. Louis F. Fellows, county director, announcing a county meeting to be held in the school at Walkkill on November 5, and it was voted to send two delegates from here. Mrs. Haynes welcomed the audience of nearly 100 persons and stated the objects of the association and asked the mutual cooperation of the community for the youth in their moral and spiritual growth.

Trio Sings

A trio composed of the Misses Rose Symes, June Reynolds, Ruth Goldsmith, accompanied by Mrs. Willard Burke at the piano, sang the "Bells of St. Mary's." Mrs. Burke continued the program with two piano solos. A. Herbert Campbell, introduced by Mrs. Haynes, gave the greeting from the school, and his belief in the organization. C. Imbrie Richards, also called upon by Mrs. Haynes, responded for the board of education.

Miss June Reynolds led in general singing, "Pack Up Your Troubles," "Three Blind Mice," "It Isn't Any Trouble to Smile," and everyone joined heartily. Chairs were then arranged for the game, "Going to Jerusalem," and the entire party joined in the march and with laughs there was always one who couldn't find a seat after the mad scramble for one. Miss June Reynolds was at the piano and the Misses Frances Williams and Ruth Goldsmith aided in removing chairs until but one was left. Names had been pinned to each arrival so that none were strangers and before serving refreshments half the group was given the name of someone present with whom to eat. Refreshments of sandwiches, cake and coffee were placed on a long table and the double line formed and the lunch was served buffet fashion.

Faculty members present were: A. Herbert Campbell, John J. Gaffney, Willard T. Burke, Milo F. Winchester, the Misses Ruth Goldsmith, June Reynolds, Gertrude Cooke, Dorothy Churchill, Marian Williams, Mahel Decker, Luella Ose, Martha Benesch, Rose Symes, Marian Barry, Frances Williams, Caytrina Columbe, Anne Taylor, Edna Curry, Mrs. Daniel Gaffney, Mrs. Parker Decker, Mrs. Ernest Tamney, Mrs. Beatrice Grimm, Mrs. Marcella Martin, Mrs. Mabel Yeager, Mrs. Vincent Gaffney, Mrs. Clyde Matthews, Mrs. Fred Boyce, Mrs. Edward Jacobs, Mrs. Lyons, Mrs. Susan K. Ploss, Mrs. Charless Schmidt. Among those attending from the village were: Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Schantz, Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Richards, William H. Maynard, Dr. and Mrs. Victor Salvatore, Mrs. A. H. Campbell, Mrs. Ella Burchill, Mrs. Gay Bradt, Mrs. Allan Heston, Mrs. Frank Borquist, Mrs. William Coy, Mrs. F. F. Simpson, Mrs. Livingston Rhodes, Mrs. Edw. Dimmer, Jr., Mrs. Irving Rathgeb, Mrs. Luther Perkins, Mrs. Carolyn, Mrs. Charles Davis, Alberta Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Relea, Mrs. James Swift, Mrs. Andries Dubois, Mrs. Vincent Castana, Mrs. Albert Schreiber, Mrs. Florio, Mrs. Gust. Ose, Miss Josephine, Mrs. Bradford Freer, Mrs. John Gaffney, Mrs. art, Mrs. George Alhassen, Mrs. Toru Wier, Miss Mary Castana, Mrs. M. A. Burke, Mrs. Marrie Atkins, Mrs. C. W. Rathgeb, Mrs. Heston Wood, Mrs. Edw. Randall, Mr. and Mrs. George May, Mrs. Orlando Freer, Rev. S. A. Corneal, Mrs. Robert Post, Mrs. Joseph Weller, Mrs. Gordon Wilcox, Mrs. Ralph Lyons, Eliza Raymond.

The large hall had been beautifully decorated with autumn leaves, and bouquets and pots of chrysanthemums, furnished by Mrs. J. J. Donovan and Mrs. C. W. Rathgeb, and the latter, chairman of the hospitality committee, was in charge of refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Andries Dubois, Mrs. Heston Woolsey, Mrs. Bernady, Mrs. Perkins, Mrs. Randall, Mrs. Lyons.

Future Program.
The program as prepared by the committee and given to all present opened with the September 14 meeting, "Travel," "A Summer in the P.T.A.," Mrs. Anne Taylor; October 14, the P.-T. A. reception, chairman, Mrs. Philip Wilcox, speaker, Mrs. Harry E. McCormick; November 3, book program, chairman, Mrs. Philis

Weller, Miss Helen Sykes; December 14, music and recreation, chairman, Miss June Reynolds; Mrs. Irving Rathgeb; January 11, Sports and Safety, chairman, Willard T. Burke, John Crowley, Sergeant John Lockhart, Clarence W. Rathgeb, Miss Frances Williams; February 8, Founder's Night, P. T. A. skit, chairman, Mrs. James Swift, Mrs. Edward Jacobs; March 8, Father's Night, Hobbies, chairman, C. Imbrie Richards, Dr. Victor Salvatore, A. Herbert Campbell; April 12, Social Hygiene, chairman, Mrs. C. Imbrie Richards; May 10, Child Health, chairman, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Gaffney, and the election of officers for 1937-1938.

The program also carries the officers for this year: President, Mrs. Devello Haynes; vice presidents, Miss Helen Sykes, Mrs. Gay Bradt, Mrs. Vincent Gaffney, Mrs. Irving Rathgeb; recording secretary, Miss June Reynolds; corresponding secretary, Mrs. James Swift; treasurer, Miss Martha Benesch. The committees: Program, Miss Ruth Goldsmith, Mrs. Gordon Wilcox, Mrs. Philip Wilcox; membership, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Gaffney; hospitality, Mrs. Clarence Rathgeb, Miss Fannie Williams; publicity, Miss Marie Castana, Miss Eliza Raymond; publications, Miss Marie Van Wormer; finance, Mrs. Irving Rathgeb. The meetings are held once a month at the high school at 8 p. m.

Highland Tillers Awarded Plaque

Highland, Oct. 28.—The Highland Tillers of the local school recently attended a district meeting held in Washingtonville and in competition with the schools in New Paltz, Goshen and Marlborough the Highland students won the plaque in judging and athletics. ## Mrs. Simpson Starts Six-Month Parole, Must Be Careful London, Oct. 28 (AP).—Heralded as possibly the future queen of England, 42-year-old Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson today began a form of "matrimonial parole" under which six months must pass before she will be eligible to marry anyone—be he king or commoner.

Six grumbled words—"Oh, very well, a decree nisi"—travelted by bewigged Justice Sir John Anthony Hawks at Ipswich Assizes, provisionally released Mrs. Simpson from her second unsuccessful marriage.

Today, behind drawn curtains, the smartly-groomed American who may become "Queen Wallis" secluded herself in her huge, white-fronted mansion at 16 Cumberland Terrace—a far cry from the "paying guest" home of her early youth in Baltimore, reeling from yesterday's brief but nerve-racking ordeal.

For half a year, she must act with the greatest propriety to avoid the strictures of one of her sovereign friend's own officials—the king's proctor.

Technically, at least, she would have to be extremely careful that a chaparron is present even when she is with King Edward himself.

Moreover, any chance meeting with her now ex-husband, Ernest Aldrich Simpson, at a restaurant or one of the Mayfair parties they both frequent might prove embarrassing.

The law explicitly lays down that any resumption of close relations between husband and wife would be sufficient grounds to justify the judge in refusing to make the decree absolute.

Otherwise, if the king's proctor gives the nod, Mrs. Simpson will be unconditionally free on April 27, 1937—just a few days before the scheduled coronation of bachelor King Edward.

England's public learned only the bare, unadorned facts about the divorce climax to the "Affaire Simpson" today. But they had to be observant readers. Morning newspapers, including the stuffy conservative Times, carried only a few inconspicuous paragraphs—breaking at last the silence of self-imposed censorship.

Bolded of all was the liberal News-Chronicle, which devoted a two-column headline to the story and gave some identification of Mrs. Simpson beyond her street address. Not a single paper, however, even indirectly mentioned King Edward.

MARLBOROUGH

Marlborough, Oct. 27.—About 200 persons were present last Sunday when 17 candidates were initiated in St. Mary's Hall by the Catholic Daughters of America. New York, Oct. 28 (AP).—The 1936 political show is to have two last acts in broadcasting. They'll be on Saturday and Monday nights with two principal candidates each having a part, as well as other leaders in the campaign fight. Under the schedule as now being arranged, President Roosevelt will broadcast coast to coast at 9-30 Saturday night for an hour, while his Monday night hour will begin at 11, placing him last on the list to date. Gov. A. M. Landon will speak after the president on Saturday night, being set for 10-30, but on Monday night he will precede his opponent, starting at 10. The governor also is listed for a 6 o'clock broadcast on Friday evening. Of the others to get into the closing hours of the vote fight, both John Hamilton, Republican chairman, and Al Smith will be on Saturday night. Hamilton will be speaking at 9-45 in competition with 45 minutes of the president's talk, while Smith is due from 8-30 to 9-30 just ahead of Roosevelt. Also joining in the final words is to be Dr. Frank E. Townsend, leader in the old-age pension plan. He talks Sunday night.

COUNTY Christian Endeavor NEWS

Flying Squadron

The newly organized "Flying Squadron" visited New Hurley last Sunday evening to hold its first prayer meeting. County President Mary Langwick, was in charge with Francis Roosa, Milton Townsend, Dora Pratt and Nelson Lewis taking an active part in the program. The topic for discussion was "What Christian Endeavor Means to Me." There were approximately 30 in attendance to greet the initial appearance of the county group.

Sunday evening, November 1, the squadron will visit the Flatbush society, the topic for discussion being, "Does Religion Offer Help to Young People Today?" On November 8, Stone Ridge will be the stopping place. If your society desires to be placed on the itinerary of the squadron, write to Miss Mary Langwick, New Paltz, and receive a list of open dates on the schedule.

House Meetings

Many of the Christian Endeavor Societies in the rural communities have a rather small group, one that can very easily meet in a single room. A suggestion for these groups is that during the winter season they meet at individual houses at their regular meeting time. Many interesting meetings can be arranged in this manner with a minimum of work and an increased interest in the young people's work as an organization.

County Convention

Just another reminder of the Ulster county convention at Clintondale on Saturday afternoon and evening, November 14. This convention is featuring the new general secretary of the New York State Union, the Rev. Earle W. Gates, as the speaker. Other speakers and discussion leaders, outside of county officers, on the program are the Rev. W. W. Kamp and Richard Tailleux. Registration opens at two o'clock in the afternoon with a planned program offering a variety of features that should be interesting to Chris-

Christian Endeavorers.

The Endeavorers of the First Dutch Church of Kingston held a very successful campfire meeting at Dashville Falls last Sunday evening with about 50 people present. A story concerning race prejudice was read and discussed. Sunday evening, November 1, the Rev. Eugene Dur-ye will lead a fireside discussion meeting at the parsonage with a topic dealing with the Orient. Members are urged to attend and friends are invited.

New Hurley Reports

The New Hurley organization makes its initial bow in the column this week with a communication from the president, Crosby Wilkin, expressing his appreciation of the efforts of the flying squadron in leading his society in a meeting last Sunday. Mr. Wilkin also adds that their calendar committee has arranged a very interesting series of topics and leaders for the balance of the year.

Plans of Pinckhockie

The Halloween social is the present project that is occupying the time of the Pinckhockie Congregational members. This event will take place on October 30 and will include a sketch entitled "Halloween Visions" and a journey through "Ghost Cavern." Refreshments will round out the program.

New Junior Society

Another Junior Christian Endeavor makes its appearance with the organization of the Pinckhockie juniors on Sunday, October 25. Mrs. Charles McGinnis is the superintendent and is assisted by Miss Ruth Kellerman, one of the former presidents of the senior group.

Flatbush Election

The Flatbush Reformed Church Society of Christian Endeavor has elected the following officers: President, Dick Davis, vice president, Clinton Lasher, secretary, Brier Ducker, treasurer, Charlotte Edinger; chairman, prayer meeting, Helen Anderson; chairman, socials, Carolyn Ryder. On Sunday evening, October 18, the officers were installed with an interesting and impressive candle-light ceremony. The meeting of November 1 will feature the advent of the flying squadron in Flatbush territory.

Combination Meeting

The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Presbyterian Church held a meeting in conjunction with the Albany Avenue Endeavorers at the Baptist Church last Sunday evening. The meeting was in charge of the Presbyterians, being led by President Evelyn Winfield and the Rev.

Goodrich Gates.

Presbyterian Juniors

The First Presbyterian Junior Christian Endeavor will hold their regular meeting on Thursday evening with President Tom Crosby and the Rev. Goodrich Gates as the speakers

of the evening

Comforters Plan Devotions

The Comforter Endeavorers are working out their devotional program for the county convention under the leadership of Miss Mabel Brewer and William S. Wood. Last Sunday evening, Donald H. Smith presided at a discussion meeting that had for its topic, "Does World Peace Begin at the Breakfast Table?" The next business meeting of the Comforters will be on Friday evening, November 13. Next Sunday's meeting will feature W. S. Wood as the leader

Scrap the New Deal Theme of Speakers

Urging that the New Deal be scrapped and the nation be given sound government under the constitution by the election of the Republican ticket on November 3, was the theme of the speakers at the big rally held Tuesday evening in the Jewish Community Center on Lower Broadway. The rally which was presided over by H. L. Van Deusen, who introduced the speakers of the evening.

District Attorney Cleon B. Murray stated that he stood squarely on the record of his office, and said that this was the first time he had "realized it was a sin for voters to re-elect an experienced man to office as urged by his opponent." The district attorney in a clear cut speech stated that it returned to office, and he expected that he would be re-elected, pledged himself that the policies of the district attorney's office would be carried out without fear or favor.

Senator Wicks spoke briefly and urged that not only the national ticket but the state and local ticket be elected by handsome majorities. He assailed the New Deal which was replacing the sound form of national and state government which had caused our country to grow from one of the weakest nations in the world to be a world leader.

County Clerk James A. Simpson again pledged that if returned to office that he would continue to conduct the office for all of the people all of the time.

Messrs. Murray, Wicks and Simpson, who were slated to address a Republican rally at Highland that evening, were forced to leave after concluding their addresses.

Judge Harry H. Flemming spoke on national and state issues and gave one of the finest political addresses heard here in some time. He also urged that the New Deal be retired to private life so that recovery could be assured.

The last speaker of the evening was Assemblyman J. Edward Conway, who urged the election of Judge Bleakley. The assemblyman told a number of humorous tales to illustrate the points he made.

The rally proved one of the most enthusiastic held this fall.

Republican Club to Meet on Thursday

The Republican Club will hold its last meeting before the November election on Thursday evening in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium. Philip Ellings, county chairman, will preside, and all of the local candidates are expected to be present and speak briefly. This rally is open to all men and women and it is expected that the attendance will be the largest so far held this fall by the club. The Kingston Woman's Republican Club will meet with the Republican Club that evening.

Commodore Britten Dies of Paralysis

SIR EDGAR BRITTEN

Southampton, England, Oct. 28 (AP)—Commodore Sir Edgar Britten, commander of the British queen of the seas, the liner Queen Mary, died today, a few hours after he was stricken by paralysis. He was 62 years old.

Sir Edgar suffered the stroke just before the Queen Mary was due to leave for New York. Captain R. V. Peel assumed command while Sir Edgar was rushed to a nursing home, where he died.

Asks Court for Dates

Oakland, Calif., Oct. 28 (AP)—Mary Gloria Perry, 18, a storekeeper's daughter, sought the right today to use cosmetics and have "dates" in a court petition directed against her parents. She testified her father, Joseph Perry, beat her and threatened to throw acid in her face if she used powder and lip rouge. She also said she never had been permitted to go out with a boy. Asserting she loved neither parent, she asked that her friend, Mrs. Anita Rose, be named her guardian.

Conway's Record Say He Knows Ulster

In the Upper Esopus valley by compelling the city to construct a pipe line for the Gilboa waters from Shandaken to the Ashokan but there was strong opposition to this from the city and while Mr. Conway was able to get the bill through the Legislature it was vetoed by Governor Lehman without a public hearing being granted. However, the matter of flood control is still being discussed and it is hoped that future action will solve the problem. In the matter of Federal flood control Mr. Conway has attended the various meetings held and a survey has been made by U. S. Army engineers along the Upper Esopus and other streams in the county. On the recommendation of the engineers will depend the amount of work done. Mr. Conway has consistently urged that Ulster county share in the Federal work.

Another matter which has been of considerable importance to local people is the WPA project for the removal of dead and diseased trees in the fruit belt of the county. Meetings have been arranged with the fruit growers and Mr. Conway has been instrumental in lining up this important assistance to Ulster county fruit growers.

Took Hand in Milk Problem

There can be no question but that Mr. Conway has worked faithfully toward some happy solution of the much discussed milk problem in New York state. In a recent issue of the Rural New Yorker there appears an article in which Mr. Conway is listed among the friends of the dairy industry. The Rural New Yorker commended Mr. Conway on the position which he has taken toward the solution of this state-wide problem which means so much to the dairy farmer. The stand which he has taken and the effort which he has put forth to assist in some solution of this problem was very favorably commented upon by the publication.

In the matter of motor fuel taxation J. Edward Conway has taken a firm stand and through his efforts and the combined efforts of other members of the Legislature have been saved a large sum through the defeat of an attempt to saddle upon gasoline users an excessive tax. In an attempt to "balance the budget" the chief executive of the state attempted to have an exorbitant tax placed upon gasoline to derive funds to meet other mounting state expenses. This move was opposed by men like Mr. Conway and this alone it is estimated saved taxpayers in Ulster a vast sum.

There are 23,540 vehicles registered in Ulster county and because of the action of the Republican legislators who have consistently fought against an increased levy on motorists to meet other than highway bills it is estimated Ulster county motor vehicle owners have been saved annually the sum of $141,240.

This figure is based upon an average consumption of 600 gallons of gasoline per year per vehicle.

Another proposition which Mr. Conway has always advanced and still seeks to have become a law is the matter of the State of New York purchasing rights of way for state highway construction. Unfortunately there has been great opposition to this on the part of certain sections but the movement is gaining momentum and would save counties vast sums of money now spent for purchase of rights of way for construction and re-construction of state built roads.

It was Assemblyman J. Edward Conway who worked diligently for the reconstruction of the Saugerties-Woodstock road which is now in the process of reconstruction and he has always been very keenly interested in highway improvements.

Wide Experience

Born on a farm at Eddyville, a son of the late P. H. Conway, J. Edward Conway attended Eddyville public school and later Kingston High School from which he was graduated with the class of 1921. He attended Fordham University Law School in New York city and was graduated with honors from that institution. On his return to Kingston he served his clerkship with Judge Joseph M. Fowler, who at the time was county judge of Ulster county, and on being admitted to the bar in 1925 he became associated with Judge Fowler in the practice of law and later when U. S. Commissioner Arthur C. Connelly joined with Judge Fowler to form the law firm of Fowler & Connelly, Mr. Conway continued with the firm and is still engaged in the practice of law at the offices of the firm at 293 Wall street.

From 1926 to 1930 Mr. Conway served as clerk of the Children's Court of Ulster county and from the experience gained while clerk to that court has come much of his knowledge of the problems which face the youth of today.

In 1931 Mr. Conway's ability was recognized by District Attorney

Cleon B. Murray with the result that he was appointed assistant district attorney of the county and while serving in that office he had the opportunity to look into county affairs and public problems.

Despite the fact that the practice of law has kept Mr. Conway engaged, he has found time to take an active interest in civic affairs and from the practical side of the picture he gained much business experience through a connection which he maintained with his brothers and William Harp, Jr., in the construction business. He, in the construction business, has been frequently seen out in the field where the firm is engaged on some contract. This practical experience on the job is of great assistance in understanding the problems of the working man of today.

To sum up the qualifications of

Mr. Conway would be to say that he is an experienced legislator, a lawyer of ability and a man fully acquainted with business conditions of today and fully competent to represent the residents and taxpayers of Ulster county in the State Legislature.

Gather up all the old dead leaves and stalks in the flower garden and burn them. This destroys the main storehouse of garden pests, and applies to many flowering plants: Dead tulip leaves, lilies, all the above-ground parts of peonies, iris, and others. Likewise, he says, all the old canes on roses should be pruned heavily since many of the canker diseases of roses live through the winter on them.

State Registration Sets All-Time Record

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP).—Complete official registration figures compiled by the Associated Press disclosed today an increase of 16 per cent. an all-time record, for the November 3 election in New York state.

The figures show that 6,216,438 persons have registered. The highest previous total was 5,350,822 registered in 1932.

More than 500,000 more voters registered in New York city than in any previous year for a total registration of 2,899,123. Update the figures were 3,317,315 against 3,011,205 in 1932.

Buffalo registration was up 55,989 to a record high of 379,237, while the increase was also marked in Suffolk county, L. I., where 115,040 registered as compared with 100,202 in 1932.

Previously an Associated Press survey of 27 cities in the state showed an increase of 20 per cent. The rural registration, however, pulled down the average of increase to 16 per cent.

All-Time High for Auto Deaths Seen

Chicago, Oct. 28 (AP).—Basing his prediction on a record-breaking traffic death total for the first nine months of 1936, Statistician R. L. Forney of the National Safety Council today forecast an all-time high of 37,500 automobile accident fatalities by the end of the year.

The council's reports showed yesterday that 25,850 persons had died in motor vehicle crashes from January 1 to October 1, compared with 25,830 in the same period of 1935. At that rate, Forney said, the record 1935 toll of 37,000 would be exceeded by some 500.

He attributed much of the increase to expanded traffic volume, regarding reports of a 10 per cent advance in gasoline sales as indicative that United States motorists drove 15,000,000,000 more miles in the first nine months of 1936 than they did during that period of 1935.

September deaths totaled 3,420, two per cent greater than the year before and making five consecutive months in which 1935 figures were exceeded. Throughout 1936 the increase has been in the age group of 5 to 24 years, said Managing Director W. H. Cameron.

The World of Stamps

By QUINTON JAMES

Uruguay, like certain other countries, now has a group of special stamps which the cataloguers list as "too late." The title would indicate they serve a special purpose. They do.

The term "too late" is derived from the fact that the adhesive pay for a particular privilege. When stuck on a letter as an additional fee they make possible its delivery aboard an ocean liner before sailing although the mail for that particular ship may have been closed at the postoffice. A sort of shore to ship mail rate.

These Uruguayan "too late" are the first such issue for this country. As indicative of the purpose they serve, the adhesives picture a modern ocean liner at the side of which is a sailing vessel of the galleon type. To meet the need for various rates, depending upon the type of the letter or package, six denominations have been printed. They comprise: 3-centimos green, 5-centimos blue green, 7-centimos brown, 8-centimos violet, 8-centimos blue, and 12-centimos deep blue.

Uruguay also has effected a change in its special delivery stamp, the one which first appeared in 1922, bearing as its design a caduceus, the wand of mercury. The present stamp is much smaller in size, although otherwise there has been no change, the color continuing in the blue shading. The face is 2 centimos.

Spain Puzzles
Just what philatelic happenings have been taking place in Spain during its civil war is not clear in the minds of American stamp experts. They say they have no doubt that stamps have been reflecting the developing situation, but in just what manner they have no definite record as yet.

Since the appearance last spring of the special issue to commemorate the 40th anniversary of the press association of Madrid and the set for the national philatelic exposition at Madrid, little stamp news has trickled out of Spain. About the only recent recorded development was the overprint on the 30-centavo Pablo Iglesias adhesive to commemorate the Manila to Madrid flight completed early in the year.

However, there have been certain indications that the use of the overprint is playing its part in the civil war stamps. This information is to the effect that surcharges created both typographically and by rubber stamps have been employed. Many of these stamps, it is believed, have been for more or less local use on the rebel side.

Not only is word lacking as to stamps in rebel-controlled territory, but likewise little information has come from the government. Philatelists say that until the general situation clears considerably they do not expect to be able to classify the special or provisional stamps that have been issued, or to determine which are to have catalogue ratings

HOBBIES

(By Henry P. Elmhurst)

MODEL BUILDING

Mark Pennington

The construction of models of many and varied objects is becoming today one of the foremost hobbies, gradually supplanting the hobby of collecting things. And not only is this subject a hobby, but it is also becoming the life-work of many men. The movie industry uses models of sets they wish to build, photographing them and learning at a minimum of expense just where changes must be made in order to get the correct effect for the screen.

Back in 1926, Edward Thatcher of Woodstock, a modelmaker for several of the leading magazines of this country, began to bring his models to Pennington's Studio to have them photographed. At that time, Mark Pennington was not very old, but nevertheless his interest in models was thoroughly aroused, and he began to build model ships, finally completing several excellent ship models that now decorate parts of his home.

Mr. Pennington began to read articles in the various magazines concerning the use of models of houses and landscapes in the movie world, and also in the different exhibitions being held from time to time throughout the United States. Thus he commenced a model of the original courthouse that once stood where the famous 1818 Wall street now holds forth. This model was a 1/4-inch scale of a colonial courthouse, constructed of plaster of paris with 2,200 separate shingles worked into the roof. The stocks in front of the building are hinged and equipped with hasp and padlock and contain figures dressed in the style of the time the building represents. There is a bell in the cupola, weather vane, foot wiper by the front entrance, latch on the door and panes in the windows. A picture of Mr. Pennington and this model appeared in the Popular Science Magazine.

Another model of a house built by Mr. Pennington was a 1/4-inch scale model of an old house at Hurley where the British spy, Daniel Taylor, was held and later executed on October 18, 1777. At the time of the interview, the model builder was just putting the finishing touches on a Hollywood, Cal., Spanish type home constructed from a building board and plastic material, painted white with brown blinds, and complete with the proper landscaping. The whole effect is pleasing to the spectator and creates, perhaps, a longing to construct something similar to that which the local builder is making in his workshop, which is equipped with modern machinery.

In talking of his hobby, Mark Pennington pointed out that three distinct models can be made of any object. By that he meant that a model could be constructed of the object as it looked years ago, or a model of the object as it looks in the present age, or an imaginary model of what the object might look like in the future. By this latter method, many of the ultra-modern designs of the present day have been brought about, and many definite ideas of what this world might be like some time have been assembled.

Mr. Pennington also brought forth the idea that models are gradually replacing the text book as a means of education, making the point that a person who actually sees an object can get a far better idea of how that object would look than he could by reading about it in a book. A child might read about the appearance of a special type of building or what a streamlined train looks like, but show that same child a model of either of the two objects mentioned and he will obtain a much clearer conception of the fundamentals which make the object what it is.

In closing the interview, Mr. Pennington remarked that for the model builder, "there is something useful in every ashcan and every rubbish pile." Some discarded piece of bric-a-brac may be just the thing the modelmaker needs to fill in some important part of his subject, and he should always be on the lookout for such articles. He also said that while patience is an essential to model building, still he believed that interest sufficient to get one started on the construction of an object, and then keep one pushing ahead despite failure, is the main forte of any modelmaker.

Bellwether for '37

WITH automobiles, as with everything else, there has to be a leader of the flock.

All right then, step this way and feast your grateful eyes now on the authentic motor car bellwether for 1937!

Look at the size of it, the keen clean line of it, the streaming sweep of it, its neat fleet beauty.

It so perfectly captures in its beautifully contoured metal the dash and spirit of its buoyant action that it looks fast even when it's standing still!

Sure it's a Buick — the most stunning, sizeable, satisfying Buick that ever gladdened your startled gaze — but its good looks are literally the least of it.

Behind that massive radiator grille and under that gorgeous bonnet is an even bigger, smoother, valve-in-head straight-eight Buick engine, fed by an all-position aerobol carburetor that does thrifty things with gasoline.

And control of this magnificent performer — from thrilling take-off all through the range of speeds and including safe-stop hydraulic braking — is soft and easy as a fork in pie.

You can't describe it, so why handicap language this way — come in, now, see for yourself.

"It's Buick again!"

Record Readings
Made in State as Population Shivers

(By The Associated Press)
Record low temperatures continued for the third successive day today as upstate New Yorkers shivered and hoped for warmer weather.
The Albany Weather Bureau reported an official low of 22 last night, three degrees below Monday night's low mark and six degrees lower than the previous record for the date, established in 1925.
Rochester also broke a record of 11 years standing with a low mark of 26 at 6 a. m. two degrees under the all-time Oct. 28 mark. Ithaca's low of 23 equalled the record for the date set in 1925.

Adirondack temperatures were slightly lower than those in the central portions of the state. It was 14 above at Schroon Lake and 18 at Bloomington, near Saranac Lake.
This morning's temperatures were slightly higher. At Buffalo, at 8
a. m., it was 32 and at Rochester 30.
Albany's 8 a. m. temperature was 32.
The mercury dipped to 21 to establish a new record for the second day in succession at Albany. Many motorists reported their radiators had frozen during the night.
Ice formed on small ponds throughout the state and Niagara Falls provided winterlike scenery. The spray formed a thin film of crust on trees and shrubs near the falls and in the gorge below.

MONTGOMERY WARD SPENT
$60,000,000 IN NEW YORK

Montgomery Ward, nationally known retail and mail order merchandise organization operating a retail store here, spent approximately $60,000,000 in the state of New York, it was announced today by E.
A. Tetzlaff, Ward store manager, who has just received a report on expenditures from the company's Chicago offices.
According to Mr. Tetzlaff buyers of the company are constantly engaged in the task of selecting and purchasing merchandise to be resold
in the company's 550 retail stores and nine mail order houses throughout the United States. It is this policy of buying and selling on a nationwide scale that enables the company to spend the $60,000,000
in New York.
"We are proud," said Mr. Tetzlaff,
"in stating these figures to be able to show to what an extent Montgomery Ward is a local institution, buying as well as selling large amounts of merchandise in New York."

Grinnell College authorities have given women students permission to smoke—in the clubrooms of men's halls—for the first time in the institution's history.

18 Men Promoted
By LaGuardia

Croton Division of New York City Department Water Supply, Gas and Electricity. This department has in charge the operation of the huge system up-state.

Previous Postings.
For some time past Mr. Hubbard has been division engineer and Mr.
Searle has been assistant division engineer.

The 18 men who were promoted were summoned to the office of Mayor LaGuardia, Tuesday, where in the presence of some 150 invited engineers from New York city and vicinity, many of whom are employed by New York city, the promotions were announced.

In the case of Mr. Hubbard and Mr.
Searle their duties will remain the same, supervision of the "Catakill" Croton division, but the promotion gives them certain seniority rights and also a substantial increase in pay in recognition of their long and efficient services with the department.

Goodman Appointed
Promotion of the 18 men came along with the appointment of Joseph Goodman, chief engineer of the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity, as commissioner. Mayor LaGuardia in announcing the appointment of Mr. Goodman dealt a body blow to the system of political patronage. The mayor announced that he would seek to have Mr. Goodman retain his civil service status of 35 years even though he is now in an unclassified position.

The mayor laid down a policy of appointing "career men" to official posts in the city government and added that where technical qualifications are necessary, he planned to have the Municipal Civil Service Commission pass rules that only men from the ranks could be appointed to the highest posts.

Mayor LaGuardia swore in Mr.
Goodman in a ceremony at city hall to fill the vacancy left by the death of Colonel Thomas West Hammond, former commissioner of sanitation,
who replaced Maurice P. Davidson.
Patrick Quilly was promoted to Mr.
Goodman's former position. The other 18 civil service members of the department received promotion because of Mr. Goodman's advance.

Procedure Unusual
"This is an unusual procedure this morning," the Mayor said. "It is something more than the swearing in of a commissioner. It is entirely new in municipal government. It establishes the career men permanently as heads of departments.
Mayors may come and mayors may go, but the City of New York needs water. What is there in the Commissioner of Water Supply that is political?"

The mayor added that "every specialized department" should have a "career commissioner." He indicated that he would soon ask the Municipal Civil Service Commission to cover in John McKenzie, dock commissioner, who rose from the ranks, with civil service status.
Mr. Goodman entered the service of the department in 1900 as a transit man. He served in many positions through the years and became chief engineer in 1934, on the returnment of William W. Brush. When Mr. Hammond died he became acting commissioner. His salary will be $10,000 a year, an increase of $1,500
from his present emolument.

Those Promoted.
With Mr. Goodman's elevation, the mayor promoted the following 18 members of the department's engineering staff:

Assistant Engineer, H. B. Machon;
Borough Engineer, Patrick Quilly;
Assistant Engineer, W. D. Hubbard;
Assistant Engineer, J. P. Loneragan;
Assistant Engineer, Fred B. Nelson; Mechanical Engineer, William Flannery;
Assistant Engineer, Matthew
F. Quinn; Assistant Engineer, H. B.
Hollander; Assistant Engineer, M. A.
Weisman; Assistant Engineer, L. F.
Searle; Assistant Engineer, Harry Taylor; Typographical Draftsman,

Assistant, Morris Becker.

Lehman Joins With Roosevelt Today

New York, Oct. 28 (AP).—Governor
Lehman joined his re-election campaign with that of President Roosevelt today after warning the city's huge labor vote that a "Republican administration will repeal and destroy the labor and social legislation" he said was enacted "after years of unremitting fighting against the forces of reaction."

He left early in the day to meet the President at Bayonne, N. J., for a swift round of activities carrying him through Staten Island to Brooklyn to Manhattan, virtually the same route he travelled last night on a series of four campaign addresses.

PROPOSED BID TO GIVE RAIL WORKERS 30 HOURS

Washington Oct. 28 (AP).—A bill to reduce the work week of railroad employees to 30 hours without a pay cut is being drafted by Rail Union Leaders for introduction in the next session of Congress.

George M. Harrison, president of the Railway Labor Executive Association, said today that enactment of such a bill would be the only answer to the railroad unemployment problem.

Despite the revival of rail traffic,
he said, about 500,000 railroad workers still were idle.
A revised Cornell bulletin, E-24, vegetables, flowers, lawns, and other purposes, brown plants, and

Mothers' Marathon
Has Good Flavor of 1890 Melodrama

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 28 (AP).—The good old blood-and-thunder stuff—
mysterious strangers, sinister threats and so on—was peeping around corners and running up alleys today to give some last minute melodrama to the mothers' marathon.

Parents of stork derby babies were keeping them closer to the apron strings, and were eyeing innocent salesmen with deep suspicion.

The "reign of terror" seems to have started at the home of the John Nagles where a man snarled a warning to "get out of the Millar will contest in 24 hours."

"He was very gruff," Mrs. Nagle said. "His hat was pulled down over his eyes, and he had on a blue tie, and was well dressed."

Mrs. Nagle summoned her husband from the cellar, but when he arrived the man was running down the street.

From now on, she said, her children will have to be guarded on the way to school, or else remain home.
Five are of school age, although only three are stork derby babies.

A few weeks ago police called at the homes of derby mothers to see if a child who had been kidnapped in Detroit might possibly have got mixed up with the marathons.

None of the other mothers has reported being threatened, although Mrs. Lily Kenny professes to much annoyance from curious ones who halt her on the streets or pound on her front door. Impervious to the sign which says quite plainly that she is out of town.

Gus Graziano, the only one of the derby daddies who does any talking,
came right out and said that he needed $100 of the $500,000 prize immediately; that he couldn't wait until Saturday. It's for medical treatment for his wife who he insists has borne nine babies in the 10-year period.

Unfortunately, he sighed, he cannot show nine birth certificates. He seemed to doubt that any mother could show 10, as one of them claim
"Any woman who has 10 babies in 10 years, I take off my hat to her," Gus said.

Much confusion continued as to the actual standing of the contestants, due to the fact that uncertainty existed over registrations and eligibility.

Mussolini Hails
"March on Rome"

Rome, Oct. 28 (AP).—Following above the roar of 50,000 wildly
cheering Fascists in Venezia Square, Premiere Benito Mussolini today signalled the fourteenth anniversary of the famous "march on Rome" by declaring:

"The Italian people today are ready and determined to defend us never before—with all their force, right up to the last drop of blood—
victory and empire."

Beginning its fifteenth year, he said, Fascism has reached such a state that "when it finds obstacles in its path, it throws itself against them and burns its bridges behind it."
Prominently flanking Mussolini as he spoke were five German officers

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP).—The Communist party, which complained yesterday that Buffalo Falls had been barred to its presidential candidate, Earl Browder, announced today it finally has obtained the use of a hall. Browder will speak tomorrow night. Alexander Guss, Communist organizer, said, however,
the party was continuing its efforts to get the use of the Eagles Hall, which, he contends was closed to his

Saugerties News

Saugerties Police Issue Statements

Saugerties, Oct. 28.—The Chief of Police Arthur W. Richter has issued the following notices for the coming events: All acts that may be malicious intent, damaging or defacing of property, building of bon fires, throwing flour or otherwise creating and causing loss to local citizens, is prohibited on Halloween night in the village of Saugerties. Arrests will be made of all offenders.

By order from the State Alcoholic Control Board regulates the closing hours to be observed by all places where liquor, wine and beer is sold, on Election Day. No liquor, wine, beer or other alcoholic beverage must be sold during the following hours: 6 a. m. to 3 p. m. The local police will carry out all instructions to arrest all offenders.

Surprise Party Given

A birthday surprise party was tendered to Mrs. William Morgan at her home on East Bridge street last Friday evening. Those present were Miss Mildred Jansen, Mr. and Mrs. John King, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hommel, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown, Mrs. Milton Hommel, Mrs. M. Maclary, Miss Josephine Burhans, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Jansen, Mr. and Mrs. William Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. William Morgan, Miss Josephine Burhans, the Misses Mac and Betty Frederick. Games were enjoyed and a social evening was spent followed by refreshments.

City Still Grippd By Freezing Cold

It was four degrees colder this morning than Tuesday morning in Kingston according to the official city thermometer at the city hall which recorded a low of 20 above zero at 5 o'clock. Yesterday morning it was 24 degrees above zero.

When residents awoke this morning it was to find the ground covered with a heavy white frost, and the weather cold and chill. All day Tuesday cold weather prevailed and at midnight the city hall thermometer recorded 26 degrees above zero, and as the morning advanced it grew even colder until at 5 o'clock the lowest recording so far this fall was reported.

The heavy frost and freezing weather has killed the flowers that adorned the various yards and grounds in the residential sections of the city.

SHE'S FIFTY YEARS OLD

Aged to a mellow green and still the shrine of thousands of travelers, the Statue of Liberty on Bedloe's Island arrived at its fiftieth birthday October 28. It was France's gift to America, the work of Frederic August Bartholdi. The 151-foot figure supports a torch 305 feet above the base of its pedestal. (Associated Press Photo)

Young Judeans Decide Program

On Monday evening at 8 o'clock the regular weekly meeting of the Young Judeans was held at the Kingston Hebrew School on Post street. Selwyn Estroff, the president, presided over the meeting. A constitution was adopted by the group, and a membership committee, consisting of Dave S. Chester, Jack Lurie and Esther Handler was appointed. Plans were discussed for a play to be held later in the winter.

Following a business meeting a talk and discussion on Jewish Current Events was given by Selwyn Estroff. Rabbi Teicher, advisor of the group gave a talk on Jewish Problems of Today. It was decided by the group to discuss a different country each week by comparing the present conditions in that country with the conditions in the past. Miss Bernice Robinson will lead the discussion next week concerning the country of Poland. Charles Katz will address the group at the next meeting. His talk will be on Jewish conditions all over the world. The next meeting will be held on Monday night at 8 o'clock.

New York's first entry for the 1936 International live stock exposition, to be held in Chicago, November 23 to December 5, was made by an 18-year-old Broome county farm boy, Thomas Kabat, of Binghamton.

Negro Arrested on Stabbing Charge

George McPhail, 22, a negro of 69 Chambers street, was arrested shortly after 2 o'clock this morning charged with stabbing Hornaby Dawson, another negro, in the right arm with a knife. According to the police the alleged stabbing occurred in Dinty Moore's place downtown.

Later in the morning McPhail was arraigned before Judge Culloton in police court and at that time said he desired an examination of the charge, and the hearing was set down for Friday morning and bail fixed at $250.

Dawson had the wound in his arm treated at the Kingston Hospital and after the wound was dressed he left the hospital. The charge lodged against McPhail by the police is assault in the second degree.

Strict sanitation in the flower garden this fall greatly reduces disease problems next year; an ounce of prevention now will save many pounds of dust or gallons of spray next year.

Danger!

How much will it cost you to put off painting?

Remember—even the best paint finally wears out. Remember, too, that bare, unprotected wood or metal quickly rots and rusts—that repairs cost much more than paint. Another winter may do costly damage to your property. Paint up now—with SWP House Paint. At least, protect the badly weathered places to tide you over the winter.
